Winery Cave Tours & Tastings in Napa Valley

June 15, 2022

Above-ground tasting rooms aren't the only formal places to sip wine in Napa Valley. Many wineries also offer caves for tasting experiences, too. These caves serve dual purposes—they are cool and humid locations to store wine while it ages to perfection in barrels, and they are both beautiful and unique spots to escape Wine Country heat. Most caves are kept around 55 degrees, which is the perfect temperature for wine storage. Visitors will find the cave experience markedly different from tastings above ground – the underground experiences often have a speakeasy vibe and can range from luxurious to a little spooky (in a good way, of course).

Napa Valley has over 65 wineries that have caves, but here are some of the Napa Valley cave tasting experiences that have caught our eye; reservations are required unless otherwise specified.

Napa

Baldacci Family Vineyards 📍

As part of a recent (and massive) renovation, the Baldacci team decided to construct a 7,000 square-foot wine cave under the winery's knoll by drilling through solid rock. Later, another 11,000 square feet was completed in 2020. Guests can partake in multiple wine tasting experiences within the cave, including an all Cabernet tasting experience, and offers opportunities for groups as large as 16 people to have a private cave tasting experience.
