

The Best Galentine's Day Wines

Jeanette Hurt Contributor @

I cover the indulgence of all things distilled, fermented and brewed.

Leslie Knope might have been a fictional character on Parks and Recreation, but ever since she celebrated Galentine's Day on February 13 in 2010, it's been celebrated by women the world over.

If you're celebrating with your gal pals, here's a roundup of wines to toast to you and your posse.

This Pinot Noir has been described as a "Cabernet Sauvignon lovers" pinot. BALDACCI FAMILY VINEYARDS

Baldacci Family Vineyards 2019 Los Carneros Pinot Noir, $65

If you and your gal pals are planning on indulging in chocolate, then this intentionally crafted Pinot Noir would be a perfect match. Rich, with dark fruit aromas and full-bodied in style, it pairs beautifully with dark chocolate better than many pinots. It's perfect for toasting your friendship.